

1. Privacy Policy

Scope:

This Privacy Policy applies to information that is collected through this website, either through Personal Data which is voluntarily submitted by you to us, or obtained by us through cookies.

It also sets out how we transfer, process, use and disclose all data, and by providing us with your Personal Data, you agree and consent to collection and use of the same as set forth in this Policy.

Definitions

- “Personal Data” means information that relates to you, and that can be used to identify you such as your name, postal address, e-mail address, telephone number and other personal information.
- Glenmark may also be referred to in this Privacy Policy collectively as “we”, “us” or “our”.

Voluntary disclosure of Personal Data

You can access and browse some areas of our web-site without disclosing any of your Personal Data.

Glenmark does not collect any of your Personal Data, unless you provide it to us voluntarily through search functions, job-postings, queries, complaints, feed-back and the like.

We may use your Personal Data to contact you via e-mail or regular mail asking you for more details, in order to provide you with additional services, information or to resolve your complaints or concerns. If you do not want your Personal Data to be collected, please do not provide any such data to us.

We do not intend to collect any Personal Data from children under 18 years old. If a child has provided us with Personal Data, the parent or guardian of that child should contact us.

How we use and share Personal Data?

We may process the Personal Data voluntarily provided by you to us, to:

- analyse the use of our website;
- provide you requested communications, products or services;
- meet legal, regulatory and compliance requirements;
- investigate any complaints; and
- administer the Site and provide customer services

Glenmark may use aggregated information to administer and improve this website, analyse trends and gather broad demographic information.

At all times, your Personal Data shall be treated as confidential. Glenmark does not sell or transfer your Personal Data to others outside Glenmark except as stated below. Any Personal Data you give will be kept confidential within Glenmark or its group companies, and if transferred to any third party for processing or mailing purposes, Glenmark shall ensure that the third party maintains confidentiality. Within the Glenmark group, Personal Data may be transferred to or accessed by authorized Glenmark personnel in other countries.

Other Information

Data that is not personal, such as questions, comments, ideas and suggestions submitted by you, shall be deemed to be non-confidential and Glenmark shall be free to disclose and use the same, without any obligation to you whatsoever, for any purpose and through any means.

Cookies

Glenmark uses cookies to improve the experience for visitors to its website. Glenmark automatically collects information including IP address, through the use of Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. ("Google"). Cookies are text files containing small amounts of information which help analyse the use of sites by a user. Information generated by the cookie is stored by Google on its servers, and is used to analyse the use of the website. Google may be required to share this data with third parties, if mandated by law.

By using a Glenmark website, you consent to the processing of your data by Google in the manner and for the purposes set out above.

You may refuse the use of cookies by selecting the appropriate settings on your browser, however, as mentioned above please note that if you do this you may not be able to use the full functionality of a Glenmark website.

Changes to the Privacy Policy

Glenmark may update its Privacy Policy from time to time. Regularly reviewing this page ensures that you are always aware of what information is collected, and its manner of use, if any.
